German Back

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Russia's communiqué said tonight that German forces encircled in the Taganrog area had been "liquidated" with the killing of 35,000 men.

The communiqué announced advances of four to seven and a half miles in the new offensive aimed at Smolensk, largest Nazi base on the entire front, and the capture of 200 uninhabited localities.

On the Bryansk front, Soviet guards ranged from nearly four to more than six miles and 40 towns and villages were taken, the Moscow announcement said.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(CP)—D.N.B. German news agency reported tonight another German retreat on the eastern front in the Donets Basin area southwest of Voroshilovgrad. The dispatch was broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press.

Voroshilovgrad, approximately 70 miles northeast of Stalingrad and 20 miles north of Taganrog, is already some distance behind the front and the German announcement indicated the Nazis are falling back upon the defenses of Stalingrad, their army headquarters for the entire southern front and seriously threatened main bastion of the Donets Basin.

The German communiqué in effect disclosed the Russians were attacking along the entire 600-mile front from the Sea of Azov to Smolensk.

Greatly Weakened

Recent Events

Show Germans' Waning Power

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 1.—Germany's greatly weakened position at the beginning of the fifth year of the war was demonstrated clearly today by recent developments in the Scandinavian becoming.

The current situation in northern Europe may be summed up as follows:

1. Denmark has substituted sabotage and open resistance for the comparative docility of the first years of Nazi occupation.

2. Finland has displayed a sudden desire for a separate peace with Russia.

3. Norway has maintained a disciplined passive resistance but the Norwegian quillings are so nervous that they have resorted to new methods of terrorism and repression.

4. Sweden's attitude toward Germany has stiffened, as shown by the dispatching of Nazi transit troops, protests against sinking of her fishing boats.

Germany remains a potent military force, capable of offering a formidable defense. But she has lost the initiative.

Besides heavy losses of men, material and territory in Russia, the full significance of which cannot be estimated—Sept. 2, Col. 3.

Pope Pius Urges Peace This Year

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Pope Pius XII appealed to all the belligerent tools to hasten a just peace, now that the war is nearing its climax, and to give the victims of the conflict hope at once for a new era of reconciliation and reconstruction.

"The pontiff addressed the world's radio on the fourth anniversary of the German invasion of Poland, and said the occasion for the people's prayer was more insistently for peace. Some quarters believed his appeal would spur any Italian peace moves in progress or impending.

Pius threw the whole weight of his influence behind efforts to restore peace to the world this year. Without naming a target for his words, he declared that peace efforts must be underway.

"Woe to aggressors
"For those who in this tremendous struggle have not a consciousness of their responsibility for the fate of peoples, who are promoting their own interests among men, who are building their power on injustice, who oppress and oppress and oppress and oppress."

The Pope said he hoped against all odds that the peace efforts would be successful. He said the people look to the pope for guidance in the midst of the confusion and darkness already wrought by the hostilities.

He voiced the fervent desire that the war might end in a new era of peace and reconciliation and peaceful industrial reconstruction.

Urges Peace

Labor Policy Delay Hurting Effort in War

QUEBEC, Sept. 1.—(CP)—J. L. Cohen, K.C. member of the National War Labor Board, today deplored the delay in the 37th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today that every moment during which the government's "Delayed Institution of an effective, a sound and a just labor policy is a moment dedicated to the enemy, a contribution to defeat."

In a address prepared for delivery at a convention session in the Chateau Frontenac, Mr. Cohen, who submitted a minute report following the National War Labor Board's inquiry into labor relations and who announced he would sign it on reversal cases before the board, said he deplores and regrets failure to publish his report and the majority report of the other board members.

GIVES NO DETAILS
He gave no indication in his address of the details of his submission. Referring to news reports suggesting that the board was in publication while the report is studied by the government, Mr. Cohen said the public as well as the government "is entitled to know the facts of the situation and the questions arising therefrom."

"One would think it obvious that it is just as necessary to mobilize and equip the nation with a proper and workable labor policy, so that the industrial front can function effectively, as it is necessary to mobilize the fighting forces and to equip them with weapons and materials and to train them to use them."

"The delay in the critical wartime period is to be condemned, Mr. Cohen said.

"But whatever may be said in criticism of such wartime strikes as the strike of the Bank of Montreal which can properly be directed against any government, against any management, or against public opinion, it is necessary to mobilize the fighting forces and to equip them with weapons and materials and to train them to use them."

Churchill Now In Washington For Short Visit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, who arrived in Washington late today to spend several days with President Roosevelt.

While British leaders and Mr. Roosevelt will continue some phase of the war talks started at Quebec, White House officials said that the prime minister's arrival here did not represent the beginning of a story but the conclusion of one begun in Canada.

Mr. Churchill said officials said, probably will not be entirely a business affair, since the president hopes to make it partly social.

There Isn't Any More

Under the new rationing order two "D" coupons will become good each month. For one of these coupons the purchaser may obtain six fluid ounces of jam, jelly, marmalade, extracted honey, apple butter, maple butter, honey butter; or ten fluid ounces of molasses, maple syrup; or ten fluid ounces of corn syrup; or one-half pound of pound of maple sugar, comb honey or sugar.

The immediate significance is that these commodities are actually and emphatically scarce. If anyone has imagined that there were really reserve supplies, and that the merchants doled out these things in miserly fashion only because an arbitrary control had ordered, the reader should be disappointed. A healthy ration could make a week with half the allotment of jam in a week; and at the normal rate of consumption the alternative allowances would disappear in about the same time—or less.

There can be only one reason for setting the quotas on the basis of so few coupons per person per month: actual present and prospective supplies are so small that not exist which would make a more generous helping possible. To the scarcity of sugar and syrup, and the added fact of crop below the average and a lack of labor to take care of what fruit there is. We shall have to get along with the prescribed amounts, not because the control is so strict, but because war conditions and nature have set the limits.

Rationing will not increase the supply. It cannot even guarantee the supply buyer everywhere. Just the amount is legally entitled to on the particular day he wants it. All rationing can do is prevent a getting more than the amount that should go a long way to reconcile the consumer to the rather absurd allowances which conditions have imposed.

A Bridge to Victory

At no cost to itself the province of British Columbia has come into possession of a $1,750,000 bridge spanning the Peace River between Dawson Creek and Fort St. John. This splendid structure was built and paid for by the United States and is handed over to British Columbia—and to Canada—as an outright gift.

Canadians will not be wanting in appreciation of the gift, for the bridge will make the journey to the north no longer needed for purposes of war. None the less appreciative if they do not get the full value of the gift, for the bridge does not build the bridge just because they wanted to spend money or do Canadians a favor. They built it—as they are building the highway to the north—as a necessary step in the development of their plans for making effective war against the Japanese.

Many things plans be speedily and completely successful, and may the new Peace River bridge be found even more advantageous in carrying them out than it is expected to be. No one can doubt that in the most realistic sense a bridge to victory.

Under the agreement governing such undertakings, war structures which are permanent in character and which are removed because the property of the province in which they are located or of the Canadian government, Canada is to maintain them in after-war years if needed. This in no way detracts from the permanent usefulness of the bridge—or of the highway—nor does it constitute a failure to gratefully acknowledge the gift.

The builders have made a good job of the bridge, as they have of the highway of the highway, on which many other large and small bridges are being or are to be built. The newly finished structure, which agrees with some of the famous bridges of the continent, is symbolic of the facilities for development which war conditions have brought to the north-western Canada. After the war has been won, it will be carrying peaceful commerce and aiding in the exploitation of the resources of the great north-western area.

Two Conferences

In his broadcast yesterday Mr. Churchill confirmed the supposition that the conference at Quebec was concerned mainly with plans for prosecuting the war against Japan. This supposition would be a Russian representative. That country being at peace with Japan, Moscow could not properly have been asked to take part in such a conference, and it is considerably likely that it will be represented.

What decisions were made and what plans were drawn, Mr. Churchill did not say. It is not clear whether the conference was held here or in London, but it is known, but like the rest of us he will have to wait for the events. That the decisions were made here is not surprising, for it is well known that there is no delay in expanding and pushing ahead the operations in the Pacific. The gentlemen there will not imagine that the British prime minister would have official endorsement to the reports that another conference is to be held soon at which the Russian ally will be represented. This gathering will, for the same reason, deal exclusively with the war against Germany and Italy—unless Italy surrenders in the meantime.

The British prime minister also may have official endorsement to the reports that another conference is to be held soon at which the Russian ally will be represented. impression that Russia was allied at Quebec. The conference was a spokes-man there without breaking any treaty obligations and giving offense to a country to which it has pledged non-aggression. There has been such an impression in some quarters is evident from comment on the absence of a Russian representative.

The fact that plans are under way for another conference, at which Russia will be represented, should also curb the enthusiasm of some radio commentators who seem bound to discover a cleavage between the Soviet and the western Allies. Moscow has naturally been anxious that a second front be set up to ease the pressure on the eastern front. But it is ludicrous to suggest, as has been done, that it is perverted to the point of being liable to make a separate peace with Hitler. If sacrifice counts for anything, the Russians do not desire that stab in the back. Nor is there any factual reason for such a supposition.

The Jap garrison on Kiska seems to have followed Mussolini to Shanghai-La.

From Alaska come the interesting news that the farmers in the Matanuska valley have a million dollar crop. If they can get enough harvest hands to gather the crop, the then limited agricultural production has been steadily receding into supposedly forbidden latitudes for forty years and is still moving north.

By means unknown, the head of the Luftwaffe died suddenly at the headquarters of the German military mission in Goering, it seems, is still Reichsmarschall, despite Himmler and the ominous silence—since he still has a headquarters where he can call it off the map. The charge for failing to make good his boast that no enemy bomb would ever fall on the Ruhr area.

This gathering will, for the same reason, deal exclusively with the war against Germany and Italy—unless Italy surrenders in the meantime.

WASHINGTON—No matter how manfully Washington and London try to hide their eyes, the facts are about Russia's future course. It is to be decided by the Soviet government, and the British and the United States.

Who will be the victor in this war? The answer is, it will be decided by the Soviet government, and the British and the United States.

Moscow Dateline

Chapter XXVII

Keeping house in Moscow in war time was, I found, a good idea to the economic state of the Soviet Union. Politically, Russia's position was sound, both at home and abroad: the Communist party was maintaining firm discipline domestically, while the western powers, the United States and Great Britain, were doing everything possible to aid their eastern ally. Militarily Russia's position was strong: the Red army still packed an offensive punch, as well as a defence equal to anything the Germans could hand out in any single sector. If the Soviet Union had a weakness, it was economic.

There were no complete, exact statistics by which this situation could be judged. There were a few general statements and partial figures. Industrial bases had been evacuated successfully to the east, and were keeping the Red army well supplied with arms and munitions. Cultivated areas in non-occupied regions had been increased by more than 3,000,000 acres for the 1942-43 winter crop. Over 100,000 miles of grain had been agreed to make up for the loss of great industrial regions like the Donbas basins, the wheatlands of the Ukraine, Novorossia, and the Kuban black-earth region, for the tremendous damage by the front could only be judged by the economic life of a citizen.

RUSSIANS TOO BUSY
This American would have been told by a housewife, but there being no American or English woman available to do so, and the Russian women all being too busy I have taken up my pen, dried my hands, and seated myself before a typewriter to do the job.

During the summer, on my return from Kuzbyshev, I alternated in living at the apartment and the hotel. Walter B. Lacey, Lesauze, Lee Slove, Eddy Gilmore, and some of the boys I have responded, would order their nightly portions of sausage, cheese, butter, and cake at the hotel with me, and we would carry that to the apartment. We did our own cooking, toasting cheese sandwiches, frying the sausage, and liking it. After supper, we sat in the long summer twilight, talking about shop, politics, war, food, and home.

When darkness fell about 11 p.m., we walked back to the hotel, if we felt like it, or stretched out on the beds and coughed and slept. Morning, Teliyeva's maid, Natasha, came to clean up, and make breakfast coffee. It there was any clients. Once in a while, we threw a party.

REGISTERED AT GASTRONOME
I was registered at the Gastronome, for my food ration. This was a considerable sum. It provided a bread, four or cookies—one kilo daily (two big loaves of bread). Butter—three kilos monthly (eleven pounds). Meat—five kilos monthly (eleven pounds). Fish—five kilos monthly (eleven pounds). Milk—two liters every five days (little more than two quarts). Eggs—two daily. Sugar—five kilos monthly (eleven pounds). Fruit or other grain—four kilos monthly (eleven pounds). Rice, vegetables—unrationed, but limited according to season.

My rations, I found, were enough, if I had company no more than once a week. At the Gastronome, I found, was much better off than the average citizen. Their rations provided, for the three categories of workers, employees, and dependents.

Bread—600, 500, and 400 grams daily.

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

For 31st heroic years, the 3,000,000 people of mountainous Norway have suffered and starved under Nazi occupation, occasionally rising up to strike a telling blow against their oppressors. Now their day of liberation may be near, for signs point to a continental invasion by Allied forces and German soldiers in Norway are likely targets. The Allies are anxious to clear the Nazis from Norway is obvious. Nazi bases here in the spring of 1940. Map shows the 1,000-mile coastline along which American, Canadian, British and Free Norwegian forces might strike to cancel out this northern Nazi base before launching irrevocable further south in Europe.

How had it come about that in a socialistic society, citizens could pay at the official exchange rate, 500 a pound for meat, a loaf for bread, 500 a pound for sugar? It was the result of a combination of wartime factors, including rising wages and prices, inflation, and some speculation.

WAGES WENT UP
"Wages went up for overtime work, untaken vacations, and holidays," women and children, who had never worked before, earned maximum salaries. The men made more than ever in the army, particularly officers and members of the Guards, who received double pay. Free prices for food, clothing, and other necessities were maintained.

But the supply of consumer goods always short since the evacuation of industry, the loss of capital goods and heavy industry, the loss of the Red Army's increased its controlled prices, twice doubling, for example, the price of vodka. The currency was inflated to cover the state's increased requirements. Some speculation inevitably arose among private individuals, although I never saw any evidence that it was on a large scale or on any official basis. Soviet officials had a completely clean slate in this, as in any other general matter.

Stalin, who puts in his time only on the most important problems, finally took a hand in the economic situation. The Pravda of December 9, 1942, carried at the top of its front page, above the military communiqué, a message to Stalin from the Tambov Province committee of the Communist Party, reporting collective farmers of that region had collected forty million rubles to build a tank column. "Tambov," "Convey to the collective farmers of Tambov Province," Stalin replied, "forty million rubles for a Red army tank column to build the tank column of the collective farmers."

Stalin, at this time, was taking a hand in another matter of supreme importance—the battle of Stalingrad.

Alberta's History To Be Recorded
CALGARY, Sept. 1.—(CP)—The early history of Alberta with all its folklore, pioneer recollections and the other data promised will be permanently recorded at the University of Alberta through the aid of the Rockefeller Foundation. Robert E. Gard, A.B. M.A. from Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., who arrived in Calgary yesterday has been named as the director of the Foundation to work out the history of Alberta in starting the Alberta folklore and history project.

"The purpose of my stay here," said Mr. Gard, "is to interview and to collect the stories of old ranchers, tall tales from the old mountaineers, and the colorful history of the province of Alberta."

"Archives at the university will be established in partnership with this work and they will be made available to any writer interested in the history of the body matter."

"Another purpose of my visit will be to establish a folklore archive at the university where manuscripts and records will be kept."

Greek Patrons Disrupting Axis Communications

ISTANBUL, Aug. 30.—(Delayed)—AP—A semi-official source said today Greek patrols, operating in which station with the general Allied command, were disrupting Axis communications and recently captured a large quantity of the Pindus mountains, heavily armed.

OPINIONS will differ as to whether or not another inning should have been attempted in last night's ball game at Renfrew Park. To the corner it did appear sufficiently light to justify a start on the eighth, but to say that an extra session could have been played would of course be merely guesswork.

However, the arrier has been better in his second start against the Yanks than in the series opener. The Army did get to him for a pair of healthy pokes in the first inning and these, along with two errors accounted for the three runs, but from there on Barron's numbers were in the neighborhood of three after which the game was over.

HAWKEYE COMES BACK
MORRIS HAWKEYE looked much better in his second start against the Yanks than in the series opener. The Army came back with three Yanks in the third and three Yanks in the fourth and fifth. A walk to Capt. Harry Barron in the fourth was followed by two outs—then came an error and Lottis hit before Nelson could get out his long drive to left which Pete Danilovich was able to get under.

Five of the seven hits secured by Walter Nelson came in pairs. The Army pitcher turned in a nice job. He was not given the support usually accorded Yank pitchers in the rough spots and two misplays

Outstanding As Juvenile Sysonby Beaten Only Once, But Colin Was Never Defeated

AFTER unbeaten Colin won the Tidal Stakes as a 3-year-old in 1908, James R. Keene shipped the Apollo of race horse to England. For the balance of the season and through the spring of 1909, the handsome brown son of Commando out of Pastoria trained at Newmarket for the great classics.

Colin's workouts were so impressive that conservative Sam Dewing, one of the foremost trainers of the other side, declared he might be the best horse he ever saw.

Colin captivated the remarkable and tragic Sysonby as the apple of Owner-Breeder Keene's eye. Years after Sysonby's untimely death of septic pneumonia, Keene told friends, paying tribute to that fiercer and fiercer memory. It was in the Museum of Natural History in New York, where Sysonby's skeleton is preserved for posterity.

There was a truly great horse, said one of the party. "He was beaten only once."

COLIN NEVER PERFECT
Colin would have been the perfect horse, except for an enlarged liver, which he had when he was a yearling. He had a beautiful head, his neck was straight, his legs were good, his stride was long and his disposition was good. He was a true gentleman.

Colin was named by the great English poet Alfred Lord Tennyson, one of whose heroines, Penelope, had a son named Colin. A good name, but it was not a good omen for the horse.

DiMaggio Has Chances Appear Slim for "All Round Homer King"

By JUDSON BAILEY
NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(AP)—More than 700 home runs have been hit in the major leagues this year but the one familiar feat of a slugger getting at least one in every park seems to have faded into the limbo of peacetime pursuits.

Last year, for the first time in many seasons, no player in either league landed the all-around homer king.

This year the only player in the National League who has even a chance at making the grade is Vince DiMaggio of Pittsburgh. He has hit 10 home runs in 10 games.

"M" Depot Triumphs 10-4 To Enter Fastball Finals

NO. 3 "M" Depot reached the finals in the Senior Men's Fastball League playoffs Tuesday night when they defeated Aircraft Repair 10-4 at Kingsway Park to take the best of three series two straight. They won the first, which was played Saturday by a 3-1 count.

The Airman will play on the mound again for the "M" Depot and allowed six hits but kept them well weathered in hold the losers to four runs. He was reached on a ground ball in the third, however, when Ken McAlway threw a two-run homer. Sumner Wheatfield went on to bat.

Extra base hits were in order for the Airman. Len Oakenford getting a triple and George Harry Kern made two doubles and Jack Pomfret sent Dick Daulton over the plate.

At Young started in the first, but was relieved by Wheatfield in the third when Wheatfield was hit in time on the ball and Wheatfield was in the remaining two outs.

Newsom Goes to Senators

For Third Time in Career

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Louis (Ruck) Newsom, who made his 1943 debut with the Browns in mid-July on the promise of pitching them to a pennant, instead will leave a scene of humiliating defeat to join Washington Senators.

He was told Tuesday by a well-known cash man, vice-president William O. Davis, announced.

Newsom's third and shortest tenure with the Browns was a bitter disappointment. Buck was knocked out of the box nine times while winning one game and losing six.

He appeared as a relief pitcher in a job contest and was pounded hard along at the time Newsom was obtained from Brooklyn in trade for umpire Archie McKinn and Fred Ostermiller.

Trading the Yankees for only 75 cents, the Browns hit a downward dive that has put them 20½ games behind.

President Donald Barnes and Manager Luke Sewell frankly admitted Newsom was obtained "to pitch as a pennant."

In fact, the 25-year-old veteran said confidently to Barnes: "I'm just the guy that can win the pennant for you."

His words of late have been deflated.

"I'm all right on that mound. Had some bad luck lately, but old Buck can take care of himself."

Grand Circuit's twilight banner racing meetings Tuesday after a poor start had cost him the first heat.

Breaking at the barrier in the first heat and last by at least 10 lengths, Mighty H. battled his way back to the front post, but the effort was too much and he finished fifth. Earle King George won in 2:12½.

Andrews Hurls Four-Hitter As Braves Shut Out Giants

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Boston Braves settled a score with New England Mungo Tuesday as Nate Andrews pitched four-hit shutout ball and Edmer (Butch) Nieman hit a three-run homer, a triple and a single to wallop New York Giants 6-0.

Mungo blanked the Braves on two hits Saturday and was brought back to the mound on two days' rest in the hope that his spell might still be in effect.

But Nieman knocked him in on five innings with three of his eight hits. He singled and scored with the help of an error in the second inning, tripled to score in the fourth and hit his sixth homer with two on in climax a four-run outburst in the fifth.

Afterward Harry Feldman and Johnny Wirtz allowed the Braves to hit in three innings, but Andrews never let the Giants threaten.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Youths Waste Time With Cost of Marriage

It Takes More to Live on Than We Think, and Only Solution to Result in Happy Home, Is Thoughtful Team Work

How much money does it take to marry? Not thousands of dollars, as many young people think. It takes more to live on than we think, and only solution to result in happy home, is thoughtful team work.

And, advised even a pair of young Einstein could devise a budget that wouldn't play tricks and leave them in the lurch, for it always takes a little more to live on than we calculated. Something unforeseen always happens. About the time we lay aside so much for rent, grocery bill, movies, and so on, John stubs his toe and there is a doctor's bill to pay, or Aunt Mabel comes for a nice long visit and eats up our next long week's cost, and there we are floundering around in the red, instead of sitting pretty in the black.

Naturally, while a girl and boy are planning their wedding dream they give little, if any, thought to the absurd side of matrimony that has to do with how do we eat, and where shall we be clothed. They feel that love is sufficient to carry off, that they will desire no other diversion than gazing into each other's eyes, and have no other food than bread, cheese and kisses.

But, when marriage they discover that there is a price tag on everything in life, and even romance has to be fed to keep it alive. Arabella in shabby clothes, needing a new wave and a facial, too, clamorous creature. Perhaps married. And when Arabella looks at Percival, worried, overworked and discouraged, she wonders whether he really thinks he was her Fairy Prince.

Becky Sharp in Thackeray's immortal story, that young woman can be virtuous on $3,000 a year. It is equally true that there is no such thing as a free lunch. It is equally true that if they had enough money, in the bank to support them, so husbands and wives would not get on each other's nerves.

It takes stronger characters and a greater passion than most men and women are capable of to stay in love with each other, when their marriage has pulled them down to a lower scale of living, and made life nothing but one eternal grind of poverty, hard labor and staying off the bill-collector.

But if too little money makes marriage a hazardous adventure for any young couple to undertake, the reason is equally true. It is because because, for one visit to the red light district, and for another reason, those who have no money are always seeking new sensations. Love, amusements, and pleasures with a fresh bag of tricks, and they are as apt to tire of their husbands and wives as a pampered child with his toys.

And, for another reason, and probably most important of all, rich husbands and wives are not bound to depend on the wife for their support. The wife does not need to depend on her husband for security. The husband does not need to depend on his wife for his comfort. And so they are not as necessary to each other as the poor. The poor are together in which the wife depends on her husband, and he turns his pay envelope over to her.

But, when these two reasons of not enough money in marriage, and too much of it, they meet, the result is a situation in which there is much love and a little money, in which the man makes enough to keep the wife from the door, and in which the woman has the determination to fight with him by his side.

That is the great American romance. This is the ideal marriage. No unions are so happy as those in which the husband and wife build their fortunes together, grow their plans, grow, dream, and ambition, and they grow, share together, nothing but death can part them.

So the answer to the question of how much money it takes to marry is not to get into a hurry to get married, but to keep you from starting, but not enough to give you the idea. It is still safe to marry in a lifetime if you pick out a good strong one.

Nazis Pounced on Poland

Most Terrible War of History Started Four Years Ago Today

By STEVEN WILLIAMS

Four years ago today—at precisely 5:45 a.m.—the war machine of Adolf Hitler pounced upon Poland.

The most terrible war of history had begun. The power of the Nazis smashed into other European countries, killing, destroying, torturing.

The Italian Fascist and the Japanese Imperialist hastened to the side of the Nazi.

Today, on the fourth anniversary of the assault on Poland, the aggressor war machine is still a monster—but it is being pounded, crushed, marked for extinction. Taking the war year by year...

Two days after the Nazis attacked Poland, Great Britain declared war on Germany. Other peace-loving countries joined the fight against the Nazi.

On Sept. 3, President Roosevelt declared a state of limited national emergency in the United States, and ordered increases in the strength of the armed services amid assertions that the country would remain neutral and warring to beligerence to respect that neutrality.

The China-Japanese war raged on. Russia entered eastern Poland, signed the frontier agreement with Germany. Nazi submarines preyed on Atlantic shipping. Russia attacked Finland.

The Russian-Finnish war ended in March. Germany invaded Denmark, Norway and other of Europe's countries. Mussolini declared war against France and Britain. Germany conquered France.
British cities shuddered under terrific Nazi air bombardment. The "Blitz" Winston Churchill became Prime Minister of Great Britain. Italy invaded Greece. London received its worst bombing of the war in December.1941
Germany attacked Russia, breaking the pact of non-aggression. The United States declared war on Japan (Dec. 22). British forces captured Benghazi in a 64-day campaign of East Libya, but Benghazi later was taken back by the Axis. German troops invaded the Balkans, overwhelming Greece and Yugoslavia and the British forces which had been sent to help them. The Germans won Crete with the first air-land invasion.
Japan attacked Pearl Harbor Dec. 7. The United States declared war on the Axis.1942
The Japanese invaded the Netherlands East Indies, Singapore, Malaya, Corregidor and other Pacific islands fell to the Japanese. Tokyo was bombed. United States naval forces emerged victorious from the battle of Midway. Russia signed mutual aid pact with Britain and the United States.
United States marines landed in the Solomon. The Allies argued Canadian troops made a test raid on Dieppe. Allied forces landed in French North Africa, Morocco and Algeria were taken. The French fleet was scuttled.

Nazi Field Marshal Rommel launched his historic retreat across the Egyptian desert, with the British 8th Army at his heels. The Germans made great gains in their much summer offensive against Soviet troops, pushing deep into the Caucasus and to Stalingrad, but saw their victories washed away by the tide of the Russian counter-offensive.

Stalingrad was regained by the Russians. The United States smashed back at the Japanese in the Pacific, taking some islands. The Japanese had captured in their early attacks and more. The Allies captured Bataan and Manila. They invaded and conquered Pantar, and strategic Sicily.
Russia had hurled back all German attacks along the vital Leningrad-Moscow front, and retaken several strategic points from the Nazis.

German cities such as Hamburg and Berlin and other large war plant communities have been smashed by intensive Allied air

Roosevelt Says U.S. Columnist "Chronic Liar"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—

President Roosevelt yesterday called Drew Pearson, columnist and radio commentator, a chronic liar. He said that what he could say about the conference that specifically he could not say whether or when that was whether Premier Stalin would attack.

Mr. Roosevelt denounced Pearson in the course of telling his press conference that things are going along pretty well with respect to a tripartite conference with Britain and Russia. He said that what he could say about the conference that specifically he could not say whether or when that was whether Premier Stalin would attack.

Quebec Fishing Trip Churchill's First Rest

By JIMMY ORRIN

QUEBEC, Sept. 1.—(CP)—The six days that Prime Minister Churchill spent in camps in the mountains north of Quebec city was his first real rest he has had since the war started. This is what Mr. Churchill told Col. Frank W. Clarke, of Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Limited, and owner of Cabane Des Monts, where the Prime Minister had been staying from last Wednesday until yesterday.

Mr. Churchill said he enjoyed every minute of his trip, and while he did much fishing he also had set periods in which to work and follow the progress of the war.

Col. Clarke said that the Prime Minister was out of bed every morning between six and seven o'clock and soon thereafter was taking his artificial leg on the river or lake. "And he made some fine catches, landing several of the finny tribe, over three pounds," Col. Clarke said.

A French-Canadian, Wilfrid Thibodeau, chief guide for Col. Clarke, paddled the Prime Minister on the Montmorency river, while his son, Roland Thibodeau, was guide for the Lac Des Neiges excursion. The wives of the two guides cooked for the party and waited on table.

School Broadcasts Planned in West

SASKATOON, Sept. 1.—(CP)—

Plans for a program of inter-provincial school broadcasting for the four western provinces moved forward at a meeting here of representatives of the departments of education of British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

At a meeting Monday, decision was taken to set up a standing joint committee for radio in western schools. Groups of teachers will be asked to submit their views on the best methods of using radio in the teaching of music and science, and in social studies.

When representative reports have been obtained, a meeting of the committee will be held to plan programs for the school term of 1944-45.

In attendance at the meeting were Saskatchewan A. B. Ross, director of curricula, and Morley Tombs, supervisor of audio-visual instruction. Alberta, Dr. H. C. Newland, supervisor of schools and Don Cameron, director of extension. University of Alberta; British Columbia, Kenneth Clark, director of school broadcasts.

District News in Brief

Parliamentarian Addresses Farmers
AUBURNDALE.—Robert Fair, Social Credit MP for Battle River, addressed a large gathering of farmers in the schoolhouse here.

He reviewed the last session of parliament and spoke at length on the financial policy of the present administration and had much to say to find with Finance Minister Fliley's attitude toward the farmers' debt adjustment, village pensions, and other national services.

Mr. Fair laid great stress on the need for complete nationalization of the banking system. He said that if the farmers in Alberta had received consideration proportionate to that shown other areas, they would not be receiving less than $1.40 for their wheat.

He discussed fully the problems of the soldier settlers, present and future, and advocated the wiping out of the debts still owing to the government and the new loan to Mr. Fair intends to make a speaking tour of other districts in this constituency.

R.C.A.F. WINGS PARADE

Presents Wings

His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen, who will present wings to the members of the R.C.A.F. at the wings ceremony Thursday night.

Four Thousand Airmen Will March in Parade: Attend "Wings" Ceremony

Four thousand men and women in air force blue will march to Clarke Stadium Thursday evening, with bands playing and banners flying, to wish good luck and offer congratulations to airmen of No. 4 I.T.S. and No. 2 A.O.S. who will graduate at a special ceremony. In addition the event will commemorate the start of the fifth year of the war.

Navigators and air bombers at the observer school, will have the unusual and proud experience of receiving their wings, and in many instances, commissions, at one of the biggest "wing" ceremonies in Edmonton's history. Men completing initial training, besides sharing graduation honors with their comrades-in-arms, will be afforded an insight to their own graduation as fully trained airmen.

A number of airmen, the event will observe the completion of four years of war. The parade will feature all ranks from each city unit of the air force, and bands in attendance will include those from No. 2 Wireless School, Calgary; No. 2 "M" Depot and No. 4 I.T.S. Edmonton.

In the parade will be squadrons from No. 5 "M" Depot, No. 2 Air Observer School, No. 4 Initial Training School, and 50 airmen from the Service Flying Training School at Calgary.

WITNESS CEREMONY

The public will be able to witness the raising of the "ensign" and the "final" march past after the graduation ceremony. His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen, will take the salute, and will also officiate at "pinning" the wings to the tunic of each graduating navigator and air bomber. He will present I.T.S. men with certificates.

Group Capt. R. M. Smith, officer commanding No. 2 "M" Depot is in charge of arrangements for the parade, and he is being assisted by Wing Cmdr. E. C. Macpherson, officer commanding No. 4 I.T.S. Sqdn. Ldr. R. D. Upde, chief supervisory officer of No. 2 A.O.S. and Sqdn. Ldr. J. F. Byrdall of No. 3 "M" Depot.

Ranking officers of the navy, army and United States army and U.S.A.F. together with Alberta and Canadian dignitaries will be special guests.

The parade will move east on Jasper Avenue from the intersection of 5th Street at 5 p.m. Thursday. Sgt. C. and his platoon, through the downtown area in the stadium. Citizens are urged to get under way at 8 p.m.

Food, refreshments, the raising of the "ensign" and the "final" march past will be the main features of the parade. The parade will be held on the 5000 men and women of Edmonton and district who have enlisted in the R.C.A.F.

Playing up the ranks of navigators and air bombers to present their wings are this, from Great Britain, Australia and other lands, will also be among the graduates. For Edmonton, Monday, Wing Cmdr. R. E. Hinde, assistant director of training at Ottawa said: "Long and short, more men are needed as navigators, air bombers, pilots and all other branches of the air force."

In Command

Group Capt. R. M. Smith, officer commanding No. 2 "M" Depot, who will be in command of the air force parade Thursday night, commemorating the commencement of the fifth year of the war.

So far, he explained, this branch of the service needs substantially more men to keep up four school ratings.

Women's Uniform Proves Attractive

The trim and smart uniform of the women of the R.C.A.F. is becoming a familiar sight in many parts of the world, as the women of Canada play their part in helping the United Nations to victory.

The women of the R.C.A.F. serve not only in Canada, but in Newfoundland, Labrador, Great Britain and the United States. In playing this vital role in the service, they release men for aircrew duties.

And now the R.C.A.F. is opening its ranks to even more recruits. This is an opportunity that every Canadian woman should investigate without delay.

Write to the R.C.A.F. recruiting office at 1004 10th Ave., Edmonton, and arrange for an interview.

There's a place in the R.C.A.F. for you.

Overseas Posting Thrill For Women

There are countless exciting experiences and memorable occasions for every airwoman in the air force but there is no thrill quite like the thrill of an overseas posting.

Just outside Canada entitles the airwoman to put "Canada" on her shoulder. The "Canada" badge means many things to the wearer. It means she has shown a high degree of proficiency in her work in Canada. It means that she has been considered a worthy representative of the R.C.A.F.

Women Make Sure Can Retain Secret

Some people say that a woman can't keep a secret, but a number of alert young Canadian airmen are serving in one of the most "hush hush" capacities in the R.C.A.F. These girls keep their eyes and ears open and their mouths shut and are performing an invaluable service.

Airmen employed in "operations rooms" are on the "inside" of everything that is going on. They help keep track of aircraft, both friendly and hostile, and are "in the know" about many anti-submarine and other measures.

This is a job that provides all the atmosphere and surroundings of the most exciting book or movie and is surely sought after by the women of the air force. Bright and alert women with ability are chosen for this work and are doing a splendid job. Selection for "operations room clerks" are usually made from women already in the service or from new arrivals at Hecateville training depot.

Another field in which airmen and airmen's wives are working is that of transport driving. Most of the airmen handle the air force transport even though the airmen have ceased talking about "baggage" from the front.

New R.C.A.F. Flying Suit Defies Stratosphere Cold

Six miles above the earth, this airman is going to be comfortable and efficient at sub-zero temperatures in the new flying clothing developed by the Royal Canadian Air Force. Fully clad, he'll wear heavy underwear, wool socks, sheepskin-lined boot fillers, the new Type "E" flying suit, flying boots, a woolen bell-jar neck cover, emergency ration belt, helmet, goggles, oxygen mask, radio equipment, Mae West, parachute harness and three-o-n-gloves. It sounds heavy, but the new suit is lighter and more comfortable than the leather garments it replaces, and is designed so as to give complete freedom of movement. In the picture at left, the airman is putting on the electrically heated undersuit which enables the weight of heavy clothes to be reduced. In the succeeding pictures he pulls on the trousers and jacket, fitted with zippers which allow the whole suit to be pulled off and discarded in 15 seconds. The new clothing results from a questionnaire in which more than 1,000 airmen submitted their ideas as to what features the ideal flying suit should have.

Air Force Men Boost for Women

The men of the air force are the biggest boosters for the enlistment of women in their ranks. The enlistment of women in the R.C.A.F. has made it possible for hundreds of women to enter the service in various capacities, and as on other services, jobs that were once considered "men's work" are now being done by women.

The enlistment of women in the air force of airmen, their wives, are driving transport, acting as stenographers, radio operators, and in many other capacities. But it is possible now and these women are doing several of them. Canada's young men of the air force have been among those who are fighting men; they proved it in the stratosphere and many have called for more women.

Water Contaminated

HALIFAX, Sept. 1.—(CPI)—The city water supply has been contaminated two weeks now and consumers have been boiling it before use. Yesterday, works commissioner R. M. McKinnon said the water was still a mystery. Heavy rains and lack of purifying sunshine this summer are thought to be contributing factors.

At the swimming centre to express their thanks. Fans who were called together with their commissions after swimming.

Women Surprised At Many Trades

Most girls and women who visit an R.C.A.F. recruiting centre are pleasantly surprised at the great variety of trades and opportunities open to them in the air force. And now, today, with more recruits needed, thousands of Canadian women who are anxious to serve their country have an opportunity to release men for flying duties.

There are vacancies in the air force for stenographers, cooks, transport drivers, meteorological assistants, equipment assistants and so on; in fact, almost every job in the air force except flying a plane. The regularity and wholesome routine of the air force has agreed well with those already serving and, with hardly a single exception, the girls agree. "It's the only life," women of the air force take a special pride in the air force itself. They are impressed with the fine reputation of the corps, and individually and collectively, off duty and on the work to maintain it. They take great pride, too, in their uniform which is the "pride" of the service.

Air Force Rations Appeal to Women

Rations in the air force are fine and the women of the air force receive exactly the same rations as the airmen. Scientifically chosen and prepared food is served on a carefully planned diet basis. The food is not only delicious but contains all the necessary vitamins for active service. A visit to any R.C.A.F. mess hall will reveal just how good the food is. Actually the daily menu provided are better than can be maintained in the average home.

Reports are that many of these girls are gaining needed pounds while "going" recruits have abated excess weight due to the well balanced food and exercise routine in the air force.

Before its annexation by the United States, the Hawaiian flag was a combination of the British Union Jack and the American Stars and Stripes.

Training Plane Prepares Airmen for Service

Here is a training plane from No. 2 Air Observer School, climbing into the air to teach R.C.A.F. recruits how to "seek out and destroy the enemy, wherever he may be."

Graduates from No. 2 A.O.S. have a long string of successful air actions to their credit—and to the credit of the school itself.

Some other person and for whom tenancy may be enlisted subject to she is no longer liable for main—being suitable in all other respects

Every woman who joins the R.C.A.F. "goes" to the mess hall to receive her ration of food.

Ten thousand pounds of milk are required to produce one pound of butter.

Unlocking Adventure

By CHARLES COURTNEY

CHAPTER IV

OUT of the marines at 22, with three months' pay in my pocket and not a responsibility in the world, I returned to Portsmouth, Va., and lived with the lazes whom I had known when I was a boy. My first intention was to get work with a locksmith, learn the business thoroughly, then start out as a journeyman smith or as a small shop of my own, as I had known when I was a boy. I had found that this wasn't the way for me to get on. The pay was only $2 a day, but I could have managed with it if I had been learning anything.

Mr. Isaac, seeing that I was discouraged, asked me what was the trouble.

"You're waiting your time, son," he advised me after I had told him. "What you want to do is go into business on your own. Why don't you get a job that's quick money and save enough to start in on your own?"

This was good sense, I thought so. I looked around. The Merritt and Chapman Derrick and Wrecking Company needed divers' services, and that work paid well. I went to the place where one salvage ship was refitting to go out to a wreck and saw the derricks, barges, huge winches, pistons. A leather-faced man in faded blue jeans was looting on a bulkhead, smoking a corn-cob pipe. Going over and dropping beside him, I asked what sort of outfit this was.

"What d'ya mean, buddy? What kind of company is it? Ain't you ever heard of Merritt and Chapman? They're about the biggest they come, just like a huge contracting company on land. Their business is to raise ships."

Hank was the man's name. I learned. He was the chief diver of this outfit.

Signing on as a diver's tender, I got in the dock early the next morning just as the stubby, broad-beamed ed ship was getting under way. We clung out to about three miles and so into the black water. Tom had warned me that the pressure at that depth would fill me with depression, maybe panic, but no one could have told me the horrible feeling of utter desolation that grabbed me by the throat. For a few minutes I was a lunatic, being slowly crushed by a nameless black void. Then the pressure of the water on my ear slabs came with pain and I had found my nerve.

McCoy Health Service

Service

Most of your letters dealing with heart trouble ask about conditions which are common but not always serious. For example, the patient wants to know about a rapid beating of the heart, nervous heart, valvular leakage of the heart, or pain through the chest which he believes may be due to heart trouble, etc.

A symptom which readers often inquire about is too rapid beating of the heart. This is present when there is an increase above the normal in the times the heart beats per minute. Too rapid beating of the heart may be a temporary symptom and may be present most of the time. It alarms the patient and he generally decides he has some serious heart disorder. As a matter of fact, this symptom is not in itself a serious one and while it may be due to a heart condition, very often the symptom is not in the heart but elsewhere. It is felt for only a few minutes it need cause no alarm.

Some of the conditions which cause palpitation or rapid beating of the heart, with a thumping or banging sensation are anemia, the presence of gas in the top of the stomach which is pressing against the heart, excessive use of tobacco, and strain, disorders of the thyroid gland such as some forms of goiter, valvular leakage of the heart, fever, indigestion, etc. Before becoming unduly frightened over rapid beating of the heart, it is a good plan to have an examination in order to find out if the palpitation is due to a heart disturbance or is caused by some other trouble.

I believe that the most uncomfortable heart symptoms arise when the patient has what is called nervous heart. In this condition there is nothing organically wrong with the heart, but there is some disturbance of the nerves which govern the heart rate so that the heart does not do its work as it should. Frequently the attacks follow emotional excitement or stimulation.

I find that many letters deal with valvular leakage of the heart, also called leaky valve. A mild or moderate valvular leakage is not considered a serious heart disorder. A slight valvular trouble may usually be entirely overcome and I have observed serious cases which were relieved to the point where no inconvenience occurred and the patient could carry on all ordinary activities. When there is present valvular leakage, the heart valve no longer shuts off the backflow of blood and some of the blood leaks back instead of flowing forward. When these valvular defects are present the doctor who listens to the heart may hear blowing sounds which are called murmurs.

Pain through the region around the heart is very often not related to any heart condition and in fact the more serious forms of heart trouble usually cause little or no pain. Instead of worrying over these shooting, darting or stabbing pains, it is a much better plan to be examined thoroughly and to find out the true meaning of the symptoms.

While pain occurs around the heart and down the left arm in some forms of heart trouble, angina pectoris, nevertheless, the presence of pain is not always a conclusive proof that anything is wrong with the heart.

Other symptoms which may be present with heart trouble are faintness, giddiness, dizzy spells, perhaps swelling of the ankles, a blank image in the face, shortness of breath after slight exercise, a racing feeling through the ribs, and a tendency to become tired easily.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write no more than 100 words. Address: McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1515 West 8th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Naval Appointment To Pacific Coast Command Is Made

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—(CP)—Navy Minister Macdonald last night announced appointment of Rear Admiral Victor G. Brodeur, 31, as commander of the Pacific coast, and his temporary replacement as naval member of the Canadian joint staff in Washington by Capt. S. G. Cordery, 45, formerly Admiral Brodeur's chief of staff.

Commander W. J. B. Beach, 46, former commanding officer Pacific coast, is succeeding on leave before taking up a new appointment, not announced.

A navy spokesman said the raising of the Pacific coast command to rear admiral level "has no significance."

Girls Robbed

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Two robbers broke into a Radcliffe College dormitory where 30 girls lay asleep yesterday and ransacked 11 girls in 10 rooms, demanding the contents of their pocketbooks, before the outcry of one of the students alerted a night watchman and sent the hoodlums fleeing. An aggregate of $100 was obtained by the gangsters.

Germans Fire Cold-Bloodedly
on Innocent Danish By-Standers

By HUBERT UKKULL

Edmonton, Sept. 1.—The Danish terror on Copenhagen, with German tanks firing casually on groups of by-standers, was described today by a 20-year-old Dane who was there and who had been identified only as Holger.

Speaking between sips of beer, Holger described some of the Danish terror and how he and the longest of the Danes who were present were those in a row with seven other Danes in the crowd to Havelberg street on Tuesday night. Now he was talking quietly, dispassionately, in my room at the Grand hotel.

"I was standing in the middle of the town hall square when a German tank came down the Vester street (Vester means street), approaching us from the east. At that moment the traffic light changed to red, causing an involuntary gathering of about 30 persons. The tank turned its guns upon the crowd and fired. I saw five persons fall. The others ran in all directions.

TELL OWN STORY

Here is Holger's story in his own words.

"Sunday morning I got up very early to see what was going to happen after I had heard the broadcast of the state of emergency on the radio. Casie Rosenberg and I went off the street and tried to make my flat on the ground in some bushes of the botanical garden to my right.

"When I walked out the Solv square toward Rosenberg I suddenly saw two German tanks coming from the opposite direction, their guns pointing at us. I jumped off the street and tried to make my flat on the ground in some bushes of the botanical garden to my right.

"The tanks began firing at the barracks, which I could see through the trees some 300 metres (a little more than 300 yards) away to my right and in front of me.

"I could see the flashes of the guns and hear the crackling of the machine guns.

"The tanks fired at the barracks, which I could see through the trees some 300 metres (a little more than 300 yards) away to my right and in front of me.

"I could see the flashes of the guns and hear the crackling of the machine guns.

Says Inflation

Serious Threat
To War Effort

Inflation uncontrolled is the greatest danger to Canada's war effort and the welfare of the Canadian people. Arthur H. Wood, Montreal, president and managing director of the Life Assurance Company of Canada, stated here Wednesday, as he urged the cheerful acceptance of restrictions and governmental policies instituted to maintain a stable economy.

Every citizen can stem inflation by investing in Victory Bonds, War Savings Certificates and in life insurance, he said. These avenues of investment not only help the war effort but definitely insure the investor against any possible disturbance in the economy during the transition period from war to peace time economy.

Mr. Wood said that all Canadian insurance companies were doing a larger business this year than last and in the first three months of 1943 business up to Aug. 12 was 27 per cent ahead of last year for the corresponding period.

He said that 31 per cent of the company's business was in the life insurance business, and that the balance was in fire and accident insurance. The company operates in 40 countries, 21 per cent in Britain and British colonies.

The expansion in insurance business, Mr. Wood attributed to the large increase in the national income and also to the fact that in times of crisis the public turns to the safety of insurance both as an investment and a safeguard to their future.

During the life insurance company's business, Mr. Wood said, the company's business was in the life insurance business, and that the balance was in fire and accident insurance. The company operates in 40 countries, 21 per cent in Britain and British colonies.

Labor Progressive Party Contest
All Alberta Seats

CALGARY, Sept. 1.—(CP)—The Labor Progressive party will contest every constituency in Alberta in the next provincial election, according to plans in Calgary, said James McPherson provincial president, at a public meeting held here last night.

The party was organized in Toronto under the leadership of Tim Buck, long-time leader of the Canadian Communist party. It will do the utmost to seek the organization of the CCF and endeavor to elect either a Labor Progressive or a CCF candidate in each constituency.

It will not seek unity of any kind with the Social Credit party, and will call upon the masses to repudiate the Social Credit movement and join with the Labor Progressive party.

Mr. Wood, Montreal, president and managing director, Sun Life Assurance of Canada, who arrived in Edmonton Tuesday evening in the course of his annual inspection tour of western agencies, Mr. Wood recently called on the Sun Life company, and he was reported to have been landed at an Atlantic port; she was laden only with her head when she reached land.

Fire was still raging about the vessel last night, and thick smoke poured from her vitals. As the lay in mid-stream billows of smoke from the freighter rolled over the city.

Nationality of the ship and her crew, and the cause of the accident and other details remained undisclosed. The vessel had been there had not been identified.

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN

PORT, Sept. 1.—(CP)—A flame-ravaged freighter, lumbering for 30 men, was towed to land yesterday with the bodies of the seamen who died aboard her after she had followed a collision off the eastern seaboard.

The merchant seaman died of burns and suffocation in the fire that broke out 300 miles off the Nova Scotia coast after the freighter had collided with another Allied merchantman.

Beyond the fire and the collision, no details of the accident were known. The freighter was taken from her sea area and was reported to have been landed at an Atlantic port; she was laden only with her head when she reached land.
